FIRST IN OIL SANDS

Suncor Energy Inc. is an integrated energy company, strategically focused on developing one of the world's largest petroleum resource basins – Canada's Athabasca oil sands. Since we made history tapping the oil sands to produce the first commercial barrel of synthetic crude oil over 40 years ago, Suncor has expanded its assets and expertise with new resource leases, new technologies and a new vision for sustainable growth. Our vision is to more than double oil sands production to over half a million barrels per day in the next decade while also investing in emerging markets for renewable energy for the future.
